

California Governor Gavin Newsom has ordered all Californians to stay at home except for essential needs. Agricultural enterprises, including wholesale nurseries, are considered "essential services" and as such can legally remain open. Our nursery gates will all be closed, however; we remain open for email or phone orders to be pulled by our staff for pickup. We ask that customers please contact our sales staff by phone or email regarding any plant purchases or future availability and inventory.

We have decided that we will close the nursery fields to all non-employees for our employees' safety and to concentrate our efforts on maintaining our crops so that they may remain in sellable condition when we are able to fully reopen. We are working with nursery staff to assure they maintain safe standards of social distancing and hygiene. We wish everyone well in these very trying times and ask that all customers and our employees heed the advice of local, state and federal guidelines so that most of us can better survive, both physically and economically, this worldwide disaster.
